

Epitome : International Journal of Multidisciplinary Research

ISSN : 2395-6968

FROM STRUCTURALISM TO TRANS-DECONSTRUCTION : A STUDY OF DESSENSATION

Dr. D. N. GANJEWAR

Associate Professor, Research Guide &
Head, Department of English,
Arts, Commerce & Science College,
Kille Dharur Dist. Beed – 431124 [MS]
Email: ganjewardn@gmail.com

ABSTRACT

The present paper is a detailed study of the disagreement in between the theory of Structuralism and the Movement of Transcendentalism. It also studies dissension among the theories – Structuralism, Post Structuralism, Deconstruction and Trans-Deconstruction. Dr. Pramod Pawar and I have keen interest in the above mentioned theories and their application to a literary text. The study of the theories is the treasure worthy of securing. The formulation of these theories constitutes a separate study and so is their application. They are all fragile introverts trapped in their own skins and souls. Their intellectual traumas sometimes lead to violent death of the author in the text. Some are fragrant minds of the reader in implementation of these theories in a particular situation while reading the text. The present paper is a lucid attempt to perceive the interrelationship among the theories – Structuralism and Post-Structuralism, Deconstruction and Trans-Deconstruction.

KEY WORDS

Dissension, Structuralism, traumas, application, interrelationship, Trans-Deconstruction etc.